DIrections to find any place in this Map of Europe;

First, You must know that on both sides of the Map are Degrees of Latitude, at every ten of which there is a Circular line drawn through the Map. Secondly, At the top and bottom of the Map are Degrees of Longitude, at every ten of which, lines are drawn through the Map; Now if you would find any City, look for it in the Table, and there you shall see what Latitude and what Longitude it hath, which finding at one of the sides and top of the Map, bringing them till they cut one another, there you shall find the place.

Example, I would find the City of Constantinopolis, I look for it in the Table, and there I find that it hath 43 degrees of latitude, and 59 degrees of longitude, which 43 degrees of latitude I find at the side of the Map, and 59 degrees of longitude at the bottom of the Map, then I bring them till they cut one another, and there I find the City; and so of all others.

Note, that the Degrees of Latitude must be brought in a Circular line, like unto them that are made at every tenth degree.
